Survival Guide

Library's layout

Library is in three floors: ground or cellar store, middle floor with lending desk and main collections and upper floor with reference books. Officially the floors are the 2nd, 3rd and 4th floor in LUT building.

What kind of books can I find in LUT library?

Books are mainly about engineering and business. If the book title in catalogue is in English the book is in English, too.

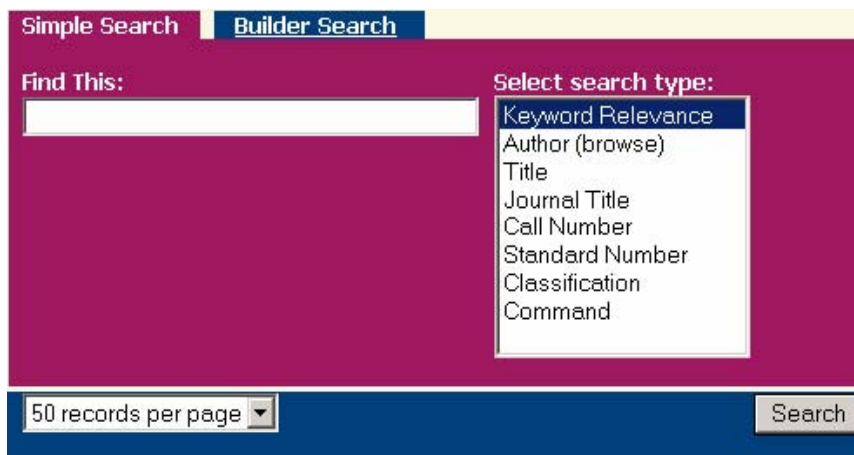

How do I use the WILMA database?

WILMA is the book catalogue database. There are records from the last twenty five years in WILMA. Older ones are listed in a card catalogue in the cellar store.

WILMA can be searched with PC either locally in the library or anywhere else through the Internet (<http://wilma.linneanet.fi>). You can access WILMA through the library homepage: link for Wilma is at the right frame of the page.

Question mark is for truncation. Example: truncat?

Search types are:

The screenshot shows a web-based search interface for WILMA. At the top, there are two tabs: "Simple Search" and "Builder Search". Below the tabs, there is a "Find This:" label followed by a large empty text input field. To the right of the input field is a "Select search type:" label followed by a dropdown menu. The dropdown menu is open, showing the following options: "Keyword Relevance", "Author (browse)", "Title", "Journal Title", "Call Number", "Standard Number", "Classification", and "Command". At the bottom of the interface, there is a "50 records per page" dropdown menu and a "Search" button.
