

Requirements for a Temporary (Provisional) Degree Certificate

A Temporary (Provisional) Degree Certificate is a document issued by an institution to a student who has been awarded or conferred an academic degree.

The Temporary (Provisional) Degree Certificate is issued as a replacement for the actual Degree Certificate e.g. in case the actual Degree Certificate cannot be given to the student immediately after the studies have been completed due to technical or administrative reasons.

Temporary (Provisional) Degree Certificate must include:

- the name of the institution awarding the degree
- the date of award/conferral of the degree*
- the name of the person to whom the temporary degree certificate has been issued
- which academic title/degree the person has been awarded.

It is important to note that a document stating only that the student has completed all the courses is not sufficient as a Temporary (Provisional) Degree Certificate.

 The date when the degree was awarded/conferred to you, i.e. the date when you are officially given the recognition and status of holding the academic degree you have completed.*

This is not necessarily the date of the graduation ceremony, as there is often a delay between the award/conferral date and the graduation ceremony.
