

When a Language Test Result is Not Required

A language test certificate is not required only, if you have:

- Completed your degree in English in an EU/EEA country, Australia, Canada, New Zealand or the U.S.A.
 - The fact that the language of education was English must be mentioned on the Degree Certificate, Appendix, Transcript of Records or, on a separate official document provided by the institution of higher education awarding the degree.
 - In case of proving the required language skills in English with a different degree apart from the one providing you with the eligibility to apply, please note that the degree is required to have been completed by the application deadline.

- Completed your degree in Finnish or Swedish in a Finnish University or University of Applied Sciences
 - The fact that the language of education was Finnish or Swedish, must be mentioned on the Degree Certificate, Appendix, Transcript of Records or, on a separate official document provided by the institution of higher education awarding the degree.
 - In case of proving the required language skills with a different degree apart from the one providing you with the eligibility to apply, please note that the degree is required to have been completed by the application deadline.