

Lucas Equeter

Top International
Managers in Engineering

Lucas Equeter, junior lecturer in Mechanical Engineering, University of Mons, Belgium. His research focuses on predictive maintenance, cutting tool wear, and AI-driven condition monitoring. Combining statistical models with machine learning techniques, he explores innovative approaches to optimize machining processes and maintenance strategies.

He regularly presents at international conferences and publishes in peer-reviewed journals on the intersection of engineering and intelligent systems.