

Marta Aguilar-Pérez

Top International
Managers in Engineering

Marta Aguilar-Pérez is an associate professor of English for Special Purposes and technical communication at the Engineering School (ETSEIB), Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya, Barcelona Tech (Spain).

Her research interests include technical communication and the role of English medium instruction within internationalisation. She has recently published on the linguistic, disciplinary, and intercultural skills acquired within internationalisation of higher education and the impact of internationalisation on engineers' employability.