Managers in Engineering

Sveta Morris is Chief Sustainability Officer at L’Oreal Nordic.

With over 15 years of experience, Svitlana is a leader in global climate, economic, and social sustainability. Throughout her roles at L’Oreal, Apple, and Levi’s, she has utilized a variety of levers for maximizing sustainable transformation: product eco-design, resilient supply chains, public policy advocacy, and strategic stakeholder engagement. Svitlana worked in the last 3.5 years as Vice President for Sustainability at L’Oreal North America and has recently been appointed to lead the sustainability function at L’Oreal Nordics. She applies a wide lens to how iconic global companies can help accelerate environmental, economic, and social progress in partnership with government, academic and non-profit institutions.
